Pilot survey tool

We used google form which:

- allows for collaboration at the preparation stage
- allows for monitoring the progress in answering
- provides us with clear charts

Disadvantages

The excel .csv file was a mess

Preview requires filling in the questionnaire

Low participation in an online survey

Polish example

Participation in online survey 34 out of 91 visited the link – some of them did not answer

Participation in the paper-based survey 98 students (100%)

Teacher survey

Confirmed by the fact that at least 76000 teachers were approached for the teacher survey with 12851 who entered intro, 1698 who partially completed, and 861 who completed page 9.

Follow up survey after the teachers' survey in Poland

98 students participated by filling in a questionnaire on paper (100% approached)

26% had been familiar with the term crowdsourcing before the survey
22% had been able to make links with crowsourcing and language learning

74% use Wikipedia for language learning
76% want to implement innovative pedagogical concepts in their teaching
90% of them think that a crowd can prepare a high quality content
3% think that CS is a form of cheating as people are not paid for their work
81% wanted to learn more about CS in language learning

1 question about interactions

Interactions with a learning program/app

9. Have you ever added any content to the sites or games mentioned above? If yes, what kind of content have you added? If not select "none of them". *

- [ ] commentaries or coments
- [ ] tasks
- [ ] exercises
- [ ] examples
- [ ] essays
- [ ] visuals eg. pictures, photos
- [ ] audio recordings
- [ ] video recordings
- [ ] none of them
- [ ] Inne: _____

New question proposal 1 (Elena)

10. Have you ever been encouraged to correct or input something into the language learning application/app without explanations how your input will be handled ? *

- ○ Yes
- ○ No
- ○ I do not know
- ○ I do not remember
- ○ Inne: _____

New question proposal 2 (Elena)

11. If you know that the program is “watching” you (though you never gave the permission), are you willing to continue using the program anyway? (Provided that it is useful for you) Comment on your answer in the next question? *

- ◯ Yes, if yes, why? (What is your reward/motivation in that case?)
- ◯ No. ... if not, why? (What is your motivation in that case?)
- ◯ Uncertain,... if uncertain, why? What does it depend upon?

12. Answer the question attached to the answer you marked in the previous point. *

New question proposal 3 (Elena)

13. What is your attitude/reaction to the fact that your interactions with a program/app are recorded and analysed without your permission? *

- ◯ I never thought of that
- ◯ I do not want to be observed without my permission
- ◯ It doesn't matter to me
- ◯ Inne: _____

New question proposal 4 (Elena)

14. If you know that the program is “watching” you (with explanations how your input would be handled), are you willing to continue using the program? *

- ◯ Yes... if yes, why? (What is your reward/motivation in that case?)
- ◯ No ... if not, why? (What is your motivation in that case?)
- ◯ Uncertain... if uncertain, why? What does it depend upon?

15. Answer the question attached to the answer you marked in the previous point.

New question proposal 5 (Elena)

16. If you notice errors in the application you use for learning, how would you react? *

- ○ I am likely to forgive the errors. I am aware of the limitations of the automatic methods, and also of benefits of the computer support, so I am willing to overlook some problems.
- ○ I am unlikely to forgive errors. I am studying the language, and only error-free materials are welcome
- ◉ I am uncertain. I would prefer my teacher to decide on that.
- ○ Inne: _____

New question proposal 6 (Elena)

17. How positive are you to help correct errors that you discover, for example by reporting the errors to app developers? *

- I am all in for this
- I am not interested in helping others (let them help me, instead)
- I am uncertain
- Inne: _____

18. How positive are you to help correct errors that you discover, by participating in an effort entailing adding corrections right in the app ? *

- I am all in for this
- I am not interested in helping others (let them help me, instead)
- I am uncertain
- Inne: _____

New question proposal 8 (Elena)

19. If a program automatically issues a judgment on your learning status/progress, this means that it is silently collecting/adding up information about you (your input). Are you likely to trust that judgement? *

- ○ Yes
- ○ No
- ○ I do not know
- ○ Inne: _____

New question proposal 9 (Elena)

20. If a program automatically issues a recommendation about what you need to concentrate on based on your current status, this presupposes that it is silently collecting information about you and building a so called model of your knowledge. Are you likely to accept these recommendations? *

- ○ Yes
- ○ No
- ○ I do not care
- ○ I do not know
- ○ I prefer to be incognito and miss on all feedback
- ○ Inne: _____

New question proposal 10 (Elena)

21. Are you willing to have such recommendations? (Let's assume they will be used for your self-study) *

- ○ Yes
- ○ No
- ○ I do not care
- ○ I do not know
- ○ I prefer to be incognito and miss on all recommendations
- ○ Inne: _____

New question proposal 11 (Elena)

22. What kind of feedback would you want to have from a language learning program -- to keep you interested to continue using the program ? (You can choose several alternatives) *

- [ ] My level of knowledge
- [ ] Right/wrong
- [ ] Correction
- [ ] Tips/rules encouraging self-correction
- [ ] Suggestion of a new exercise/task stimulating further development
- [ ] Some gamified prize to encourage me
- [ ] None
- [ ] Inne: _____

Conclusions

We are going to launch the learner survey, however we need to keep in mind:

- Controlled dissemination via teachers
- Maintaining critical approach to crowdsourcing as a means of collecting data through surveys
- Lack of extrinsic motivators and incentives which would demotivate participants
- Keep low expectations of turnout

Looking forward to your feedback
